

The Town of Dubois, WY

Dubois, WY (pronounced DU-BOYS), is an adorable cowboy town located in the Upper Wind River Valley. Dubois is a gateway town to Grand Teton & Yellowstone National Parks, but the area surrounding the town is just as beautiful as the parks.

The Dubois area is a perfect destination for the outdoor enthusiast. Outdoor lovers in the area enjoy hiking, horseback riding, ATVing, hunting & fishing.

The blue-ribbon trout filled Wind River, which runs through town, is a favorite of fly-fishermen, as well as many nearby mountain lakes & streams.

Winter in the Dubois area is a whole new adventure! Enjoy cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, dogsledding & snowmobiling. This area has some of the best snowmobiling anywhere on the Continental Divide Snowmobile Trail.

So come visit Dubois, Wyoming and stay a while! We'd love to have you at our little Tie Hack Cabin on Horse Creek!

ADORABLE HISTORIC CABIN!

HISTORY BUFFS & EXPLORERS!

Come stay in a completely remodeled 75 year old cabin from Dubois' area tie hack history! Horse Creek is located on the property and Tie Hack Cabin visitors are welcome to enjoy the relaxing creek!

The tie hacks were Scandinavian woodsmen who lived in the surrounding Wind River Mountains from the 1910's-1940's, felling trees and hacking them into railroad ties, then floating the ties down the Wind River to Riverton, 75 miles distant, to the tie yards there.

Many people today hike into the local back country in search of remnants from this by-gone area. Sections of flumes & some cabins still stand in the mountains as a testament to these rugged, hard-working men. The Dubois Museum has a nice collection of Tie Hack artifacts & the Tie Hack Monument West of town is worth a visit.

This particular cabin was moved from the mountains many years ago and preserved. The cabin has been recently remodeled with a western theme and is ready to accommodate you! Upon entering the foyer/mudroom, one walks into a bedroom with a queen sized log bed and sitting area. A
